

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A line connection reconfiguration means is provided for at least one line processing means and a connecting form including all of a connection of input line to line processing means, a connection of an output of a certain line processing means to another line processing means, a connection of an output of line processing means to an output line and a through connection of an input line to an output line is realized according to a connection setup of the line connection reconfiguration means.